A Hint from the Administration.

All Secondary Legislation to Be Sidetracked

Until the Senate Acts on the Repeal Bill.

Clear. lany Measures Filed in the House-Stewart Gives Notice That a Quorum Tust Be Present—He Scores Senator

Sherman By Telegraph to The Times.

WASH NGTON, Sept. 5 .- (By the Associated Press.) The financial policy of the administration was clearly defined today. It is that all secondary financial legislation shall be postponed till the Senate acts on the repeal bill. The House Committee on Banking and Currency, to which falls the duty of originating legislation to follow repeal, met this morning, but at once adjourned for a week'.

It is learned that the President and Secretary Carlisle expressed a wish that all remedial legislation be postponed till the repeal bill has actually passed the Senate. There is no doubt that the committee intends to follow this suggestion. The object is to put spurs on the Senate by concentrating public attention on it. The House will keep the road clear for the immediate consideration of repeal, as soon as the measure comes from the Senate. During the meeting of the Senate Committee on Finance this morning there was an informal discussion of the policy to be pursued with reference to measures now before the Senate, which have been reported by this committee. Senator Voorhees ancommittee. Senator Voorhees announced his determination to push the repeal bill as rapidly as possible, and indicated that this would be done, at least for the present, without refer-ence to the other bills which the com-ence to the other bills which the com-mittee had under consideration.

This is taken to mean that whatever truth there may be in the rumor that the administration has other financial plans brewing, or that Senator Voor-hees is himself anxious to secure other legislation, all of these schemes will, at least temporarily, be held aloof, and the repeal bill will be given undivided attention.

Senator Harris made an important announcement in this meeting on behalf, it is supposed, of the opponents of the repeal bill. This was to the  $\epsilon$  ect that, hereafter, is was his purpose to demand at all times that there shall be a quorum in the Senate. This an-nouncement is supposed to have origin-ated in the state of affairs discovered ated in the state of affairs discovered in the Senate yesterday.

The silver men in the Senate today sprang a surprise on the repeal forces in the declaration of Senator Stewart that hereafter a quorum of the Senate would have to be present when the Senators spoke upon the silver question. If the opponents of repeal in silst upon a quorum being present at silver question as the silver question. being present at all times it will be a new may seriously interfere with the pro-gramme of the friends of repeal. Sub-stantially the entire day in the Senwho took positive ground against the repeal of the Sherman act until silver was remonetized. A vote of the Sen-ate to proceed to the consideration of executive business was the first setback the repeal men have thus far sustained in the Senate.

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(By the Associated Press.) SENATE.—Senator Peffer introduced a bill creating a department of education under the super vision of a secretary of education, who, within three years after the passage of the act shall cause to be constructed a college of scientific learning, in which shall be taught all classic and pro fessional studies, the arts, etc. to be known as the Scientific University of the Red, White and Blue Cross. The bill appropriates $10,000,000 to struct the college. An appropriation of $5,000,000 more is made to create an endowment, to be known as the Scientific College fund. The Secretary of the Treasury is directed to purchase aluminum to the total amount of this appropriation, and to coin in denominations of 1 cent to $20.

Senator Voorhees submitted a resolu tion for beginning the sessions at 11 o'clock daily. It was laid over. Senator Morgan of Alabama offered concurrent resolution for the appointment of a joint select committee on finance, seven members of each house, to examine into the financial and monetary condition of the government and the people, with a view to devising means for betterment. Its powers are very wide, including the question of remonetization of silver, its ratio with gold; the revision of laws relating to legal tenders; the repeal of the State bank tax; the cause of the present financial depression; legislation to prevent national banks from abusing their privileges and powers to the

to prevent national banks from abusing their privileges and powers, to the detriment of the government and people, etc. It was laid over.
Senator Allen's resolution, asking the Secretary of the Treasury if he had redeemed any silver certificates in coin, was agreed to,
Senator Peffer took the floor, and concluded his remarks begun vester.

Senator Peffer took the floor, and concluded his remarks begun yesterday in opposition to repeal.

Senator Stewart of Nevada followed in oposition to repeal. He said that in 1867 the mints of the continut of Europe and those in the United States were open to free colnage of silver. He then recited the events leading up to the demonstration of silver in 1873. Senator Sherman, he said, introduced a bill, prepared by a clique in the Treasury Department, headed by John Jay Knox, professedly to revise and codify the mint laws, but which, in reality, omlitted standard dollars from the list of coins. After two days debate, the bill, which had been reported by Mr. Sherman from the Finance Committee, was passed. Mr. Sherman, and professed with the prestive Mr. he said, voting in the negative. Mr. Sherman very well knew, said Senator Stewart, before his name was reached in the calling of the roll, that the bill would pass by an overwhelming majority.

The history of the bill in the House of Representatives was suggestive. After it was developed that the bill demonetized silver, Representative Hooper of Massachusetts, who was in charge of the bill, affected to abandon it. Some days after, during the absence of Representative Potter of Newscand A Most Imposing Spectacle at sence of Representative Potter of New York, who had discovered the fact that the bill demonetized silver, Represen-tative Hooper presented a substitute for the bill, which he falsely claimed contained none of the objectionable features of the original bill. The substitute passed under the erroneous be-llef produced by Hooper's statement that the substitute was devoid of the The House to Keep the Road objectionable provisions of the original bill. The substitute, as it came from the House, contained in the sixteenth section a provision for a dollar of 384 grains. grains.

Continuing, Senator Stewart said that Mr. Sherman at that time reported the House substitute from the Finance Committee with a substitute for section 16, which contained a trade dollar of 420 grains. The Nevada Sen-ator here diverged from his written re-marks to observe that he did not make a point at this time, inasmuch as he was speaking, but that he gave notice that hereafter, when others were speaking who could give facts and information which were so much needed by the Senators who spend their time in the cloakroom, a quorum of the Senators must be in their seats when business is done during the present ses

Senator Pugh suddenly moved a call of the Senate, as it was manifest, he said, that a quorum was not present. The call developed the pre fifty-six Senators, and Senator Stewart esumed his speech.

He said that notwithstanding all other amendments reported by the Finance Committee to the House substitute recorded in the Globe, no mention was made for the substitute for the sixteenth section, and leading members of the two houses were ignorant of the fact that the silver dollar had been emitted. houses were ignorant of the fact that the silver dollar had been omitted. The Senate and country must judge, he said, whether a fair opportunity was afforded the members of the two houses to know of the omission of the silver dollar from the list of coins. No refwas made in the debate in the

He said the fact that Senator Sher-He said the fact that Senator Sherman, who did so much to secure the recommendation of a gold standard by the Paris conference, introduced in 1888, a bill the harmless title, adopting a standard, and claiming that a gold standard was the American idea, and that he had charge of the mint bill from the beginning to the end, and failed to inform the Senator. the end, and failed to inform the Senate it demonetized silver, was most astonishing. The legislation was not demanded by the people; they knew nothing of it. It remained a profound secret so far as the masses of the people were concerned for more than two years. years.
Coming to the recent election, Senator Stewart said that the contest be-tween the two great parties was a sham battle over the tarift and force to secure power to be used for another and very different purpose. He had told the people, he said, that it made no difference which party succeeded, the result would be the same—the power and patronage of the administration would be used to destro silver. Referring to the Sherman act, Senator Stewart said, notwithstanding the numerous violations of it by the exceutive department, it had added $150,-000,000 of legal tender money to the cur-rency of the country. There was no ev-idence that the Sherman act had, up to this time, inflicted any injury upon the country. The bankers' panic, he said, was inaugurated to force Congress to demonetize silver. The President, in his message, failed to inform Congress that the apprehended evils Congress that the apprehended evils which produced the panic existed only in the imagination of bondholders, bankers, and their newspaper organs, who had created the present distress for their own selfish and sordid pur-

There is an honest remedy, he said, for the present conditions, and that is to restore silver. If that cannot be done, utilize the silver in the treas-ury by issuing silver certificates. A dishonest remedy to relieve the dis-tress is to pass the repeal bill; ratify and sanctify the infamous act of 1873, fastening a perpetual gold standard upon the country. The creditor classes had already doubled the value of gold, and, by so doing had doubled the obligations of the debtors. This was obligations of the debtors. This was revolutionary; it was dangerous for capital to engage in revolution, and he appealed to the Senate today to listen to the voice of the people, and to turn a deaf ear to the subsidized press and bankers' petitions, extorted from their trembling debtors. It was the duty of every Senator who loves his country, said Senator Stewart, to resist, by every varilamentary means. The perpetraparliamentary means, the perpetra-tion of the great wrong which would be done if the repeal bill passed. The great New York journals say: "Vote first; debate afterward." "We notify them now that the fort occupied by the defenders of the people will never be surrendered." said the speaker. "The armies of avarice, fraud and deception armies of avarice, fraud and deception must take it if they can."

At 3:40 p.m. Senator Stewart exhausted his typewritten manuscript. He said he did not know whether he could finish his speech tonight, and went on: "If our friends will, for one session, throw off the English influences what a change would result." Before the Nevada Senator had finished Senator Morgan of Alabama (Dem.) moved that the Senate go into executive session. The yeas and nays were called for, and by a vote of 35 yeas to 28 nays, the motion was yeas to 28 nays, the motion was

The city is ablaze with decorations from end to Everywhere stands were placed to furnish points of view; in front of the courthouse was a great stand capable of holding 20,000 people, from which the procession was the people. As the hour for the pa rade approached the throngs reased, and all available vant-age ground was taken. The second detachment of the parade was led by Capt. Jack Crawford in a scout's dress. Illinois had the place of honor in the lead of the proce proper, and turned out 2000 men. In the middle of the line a company marched singing "We'll hang Hoke Smith on a sour-apple tree." The sen-timent was both hissed and cheered. Next came the Department of Wisconsin—five posts, with 300 men, and with "Old Abe," the bald eagle, at their head. Then followed other States in order, making a grand procession. numbering between twenty-five and thirty thousand men. Ex-President Harrison, marching in the ranks of an Indiana post, was loudly cheered.

Tomorrow the sitting of the Grand Army encampment proper will begin. The annual reports have been completed and printed. That of the adjutant-general shows the membership in good standing is 397,223; the net loss in membership for the past year is 2657. During the year there were 7002 deaths in the order, a larger number than in any previous year. Under the column headed "Expended in charity" was reported $178,845. Since these records have been kept there has been reported under this head $2,500,000. The plank on silver says: "The one overshadowing, all-absoring issue before the American people today is the question whether the debtors of the United States shall be allowed to pay their debts in the money of the Constitution, or whether their homes and property shall be confiscated for the benefit of pirates. The only party that votes as a unit against the tricks of the millionaires is the People's party. There are only two parties today, the People's party and the gold party. We call upon the voters of Iowa to repudiate all party connection with the gold men, to draw the line before they are forced to revolution to protect their children from tenant slavery."

Dr. Gihon read the first paper, dealing chiefly with the necessities of hygiene. In the course of his remarks he said: "Immigration is the huge pestilential sewer, contaminating our once pure lake of American people. One of the indispensable requirements of such a department is that it shall be national.

"Some of these fellers that is so set on their principles remind me very much of an old feller that bought a mule I knowed once," said the man on a cracker box to the Indianapolis Journal man. "That is, I knowed the feller, not the mule. He bought that mule from the street-car company, and the fool mule wouldn't work without a bell on his neck. Well, a bell to suit the mule's idea of things could be bought for about 15 cents, and any sensible man would have bought it and put it on—on the mule, that is. But the feller wasn't that kind. He said that he'd be doggoned! he wou d be outdid by la male, and he started out to conquer that beast or die in the attempt. He died in the attempt. The mule kicked him so high that the coroner's jury wrangled an hour over whether he had died from the kick or from strikin' the earth. Died happy, though, 'cause he had died for a principle, and hadn't been outdone by a mule. Then I bought the mule and put a bell on him, and am working him yet, and don't feel as if I'd no great amount of self-respect, either. Sometimes I think the people in general is a good deal like that there mule. They won't drive at all 'thout a bell on o' some kind, and the foot reformer that thinks it would be a sacrifice of his principles to let 'em have it. #### The Homing Pigeon.

(Philadelphia Press.) Year by year the interest in carrier pigeons in-creases. Belgium takes the lead, but other countries are not far behind. The facility with which the bird determines its course is as yet unexplained. To attribute this knowledge of direction to instinct is merely a confession of ignorance. It is much rather sight, reflection and sensation which guide the carrier pigeon on its course, and rarely guide it wrong. The course, and rarely guide it wrong, the same faculty is possessed by all migra-tory birds. To form an intelligent con-ception of this faculty, we must as-sume either a special sense or a deli-cate sensitiveness to atmospheric cur-

The numerous experiments made by The numerous experiments made by balloonists have proved that pigeons are incapable of flying at any great height. Birds thrown out at 6000 metres fell like dead, and even at the moderate height of 300 metres pigeons liberated by the balloonist, Gaston Tisasandler, approached the earth in inderated by the balloonist, Gaston Tissandler, approached the earth in a spiral course. It is evident, hence, that they are not guided wholly by sight. To bring a point 300 miles distant within the range of vision, it would be necessary to ascend nearly twenty thousand metres. The carrier pigeon starting on such a journey must consequently start with faith in the unseen.

Here is One Way to Be Swell.

The firm may know very well that she uses the things meanwhile. Indeed, perhaps she stops at the store with something on that is designated "on approval" at that moment on her account, but then she wears things very carefully, and they are returned in perfect condition. Mrs. So and So gets the heavenly little poodle she carftes in just the same way. The dog-fancier knows her to be a woman of means. Sometimes she will buy a dog. She takes the best care in the world of them, and if she wants one to keep a few weeks and find out whether she likes him, on the whole he does not lose by it, for she will send him custom. The florist is just as generous. Even a horse, coupe, harness 2nd private driver can be had in just this way on trial, and by no dishonesty. It is part of the first-class tradesman's business to do this kind of thing, and you must not think that the woman who has so many things has more money than you. Likely as not, it is merely that she has more brains.

(Oakland Times.) There is one California product that will not be appreciably affected by the cheap market into which other agricultural commodities have fallen. The first carload shipment of hops from the Sacramento Valley was made last Friday, billed to London as an extra fine sample of the first baling. Hop-picking will begin this week, and it is estimated that 1100 white people will be employed. This number will be increased as the season advances. It is expected that the entire crop, which will be marketed in Europe, will bring at least $450,000. of "British gold" to this coast. It may be an off year for wheat in California, but hops—well hops is hops and worth its weight in silver, anyway.

Sainte Mande, says a Dalziel correspondent, produced an amusing incident of conjugal jealously. A Monsieur L— went to a concert at Chateau du Lac. Upon returning and entering the bedroom he found the hat of a general on the table. He naturally jumped to the conclusion that some galiant officer had paid a visit during his absence, and forthwith he vented his rage upon his wife and gave her a sound thrashing. At that moment a noise was heard in the wardrobe. Monsieur rushed to the door, opened it, and commanded the "General" to come out. He was astounded to find a monkey dressed a la militaire trip gaily out of this plece of furniture. It appeared that during the day a traveling musician had visited the neighborhood, wearing the old hat of a general, and accompanied by a monkey. The latter had escaped, carried off his master's hat, entered the apartment of Monsieur L— by the bedroom window, and made himself at home. Monsieur's confidence in his wife was quite restored, but madame refuses to forgive him for his chastisement of her, and she threatens to sue for a judicial separation. land.

Mgr. Satolli said the first great Catholic Congress, the ideal and model for this and every such guthering, was when Christ, surrounded by the children of Israel, delivered His great Sermon on the Mount, the burden of which was: "Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteeyspess and all when Christ, surrounded by the children of Israel, delivered. His great Sermon on the Mount, the burden of which was: "Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all other things shall be added unto you." He said that here in America was the key to the future, and the Pope charged him to speak words of hope and blessing and the message quoted above. Addresses were made by Bishop Watterson of Columbus, O., cousin of Hon. Henry Watterson of Louisville, and a number of laymen. Among those who participated in the discussion opened by Bishop Watterson, were Edward Osgood Brown, the single tax advocate; Judge John Gibbon of Chicago, Timothy Dwight of Boston, and May Thress Elder of New Orleans. An interesting address on the "Catholic Summer School and Catholic Reading Circle" was delivered by Katherine Conway of Boston. By Special invitation several representatives of the Colored Catholic Congress were given seeds on the platform.

Almost a Smash-up.

A man from Gardena, whose name ould not be learned, almost miracucould not be learned, almost miraculously escaped injury yesterday afternoon. He had driven a spirited team along Spring street, near Third street, where he wished to load a stove onto the rig. It became necessary to back up to the curb in order to do this, and in doing so the rig was tipped over, and the horses turned around onto the sidewalk, so that had not a bystander caught them the horses would have dashed into a plate glass window. As it happened, no serious injury was done.

nsane on the Catholic Question-A Model Stock Farm to Be Established-Raisin-growers Going to Organize.

A few days ago Dr. A. H. Vail, a Encinitas, accidentally shot himself in his lower jaw, and has since died. For several months he has been possessed of the idea that Catholics were soon to inaugurate a second St. Bartholomew massacre, and slaughter all Protestants. He prepared for the massacre by creeting a barricade of railroad ties by erecting a barricade of railroad ties and earth on his premises, connected with an obscured point on the beach by a tunnet, which he had dug at his leisure. In event of attack he pro-posed to drop into the tunnel, make his way to the beach, jump into a boat and escape. On every other subject (except, possibly, the so-called "Valian Theory") he appeared to be sane; but on the Catholic question he was crazy as a loon.

George S. Davis, of the celebrated chemical firm of Parke, Davis & Co chemical firm of Parke, Davis & Co. of Detroit, has purchased 380 acres in Santa Maria Valley. This is in addition to a fine, large ranch he already owns in Jamacha Valley and another in El Cajon. He is going in for horses on a large scale, and is getting ready to make the finest stock farm in Southern California.

The raisin-growers of this region have determined to organize for mutual protection, much as the orange-growers have done, the low prices of last year making it clear that something must be done to preserve the industry from almost complete ruin. A meeting has already been held, and another will be called soon. The commission men have nearly swaarped some large growers who have not been able to realize anything for two or three years.

Gov. Martinez, the new Governor of Lower California, was here on Sunday, en route to his new post. Luís E. Torres, former Governor, is listed for a high post at the City of Mexico, after a period as Governor of a State in Southern Mexico.

Alexander Craw has been here inspecting orchards. He is much surprised at the progress made in orchard development during the past few years. The suit brought by T. J. Higgins and W. Liewellyn against the water company to test the validity of the celebrated railroad water lease, has been dismissed, and the fight now stands squarely between the city and the water company. Judge John D. Vorts opened for the company. The city is badly handicapped by having only the City Attorney to conduct its case. If City Attorney to conduct its case. If the city loses it will have to carry the lease of the water plant for eighteen years at an annual rental of $110,000 and probably pay the company $100,000 damages—and all without getting the promised Peninsular Railroad, which was going to shower blessings upon this region, but which never was, and ver will be, built. Co. A, Naval Reserve, is tickled tre mendously at the possibility of getting the coast-defense vessel Monterey down here for two weeks' practice. Out in the mountains back of Santa Ysaosi Valley is the plainty-visible re-mains of what was ages ago a great river in the sands, and along the ledges of which gold has recently been found in considerable quantities, and exten-sive preparations are being made to mine it.

Father O'Keefe, of the Santa Barbara Mission, is here to purchase lumber and material for repairing the mission of San Luis Rey. He says there are now at San Luis Rey nine priests and four postulants from Mexico, studying for the order of Franciscans.

The City Council last night gave Mayor Carlson a slap in the face, passing by a unanimous vote the ordinance which he had vetoed, appropriating $1200, with which to print the city charter and ordinances.

The Curious Banyan Tree.

The Curious Banyan Tree.

(St. Louis Republic:) Botanists long ago voted the banyan tree of India a place in the catalogue of wonderful vegetable production. In its infancy it resembles other trees in having a single stem or trunk and a dense head of foliage. As the tree increases in size, however, the branches spread out horizontally to such a wondrous extent that they would be unable to support themselves had not nature come to the rescue with a remarkable provision. To supply the necessary support the branches of the parent stem throw out here and there small fibrous shoots, which immediately begin growing downward toward the earth. In a surprisingly short time they reach the ground and take root, and gradually increase in size until they sometimes rival the original trunk itself. This new trunk, with its numerous fibrous roots, renews the whole life of the tree, other new limbs and shoots are rapidly thrown out until finally what was originally a single tree trunk, becomes a considerable forest, each limb and shoot of which are curiously connected. Dr. Roxburgh, the great East Indian traveler, says that he has seen forests a thousand yards in diameter which had all grown from one parent stem.

Long-lived Marshes.
The Rural Canadian says that the diked marshes around Annapolis, Corn-wallis, Grand Pre and Cumberland counties in Novia Scotia have for nearly counties in Novia Scotia have for nearly two hundred years produced from two to four tons per acre of grass upon some portions, without any manure, and after mowing the aftermath is converted into autumn pastures, thus obtaining two crops from it. Not much of it shows any signs of exhaustion yet, and if it does, about once in five, ten or twenty-five years, it is put to a single crop of grain and the stubble plowed in, which renews it.

School commences next Monday, and it is expected that the usual quota of scholars will be in attendance. Those who are spending the summer here and who have children may be glad and who have children may be glad to know that the work done in the schools here will be accepted in Los Angeles as full equivalent for work done in the corresponding grade of the city schools, perhaps with the exception of drawing. Therefore pupils who desire it can attend school here for a month or two and then enter the Los Angeles schools going on in the same grade as here. Elysian Park.

At the meeting of the City Council and the Park Commission on Menday, Councilman Teed argued that there should not be any large sum expended that they never heard of Mr. Geary on the Elysian Park. The public ould be interested in having Mr. Teed give his reasons for this opinion, seeg that this is the only tract of land of considerable size owned by the city, ister. ould the large sum of $100,000 be voted for park purposes, the people and it is, of course, the duty of the offi-would certainly not approve of it being cers of the law to enforce it. which are pretty enough as they are. As we have frequently pointed out, Elysian Park, with its frostless climate and magnificent views, is capable of being made one of the unique parks of the world. Should the bonds be voted, there would be an opportunity which may not occur again for a long time to make a good beginning toward the creation of this park on some definite plan, which should be laid out by a capable and experienced landscape gar-

As to the purchasing of more land for park purposes with a portion of the which might be voted, that would certainly not be approved of by the people. In the first place, let us do something to improve the land we have. Besides, buying land would not give employment to workingmen, and that would be the chief object of voting this money at the present time. If more parks are needed in the firstclass residence sections of the city, perhaps some of our wealthy landwners may be induced to emulate the worthy actions of men who have do nated large tracts of land for park purpose in Eastern cities.

What we want in Los Angeles is not so much a fashionable resort for ociety people, but a large breathing place where the mass of citizens can take their families and lunch baskets on Sundays and holidays and enjoy themesives under the trees. The need of such a park increases from year to year, as the city becomes more densely populated. It' is indeed a disgrace to Los Angeles that with her wonderful climatic advantages, scarcely anything has yet been done in the way of establishing a park similar to those which are found in most cities of this size in the Eastern States, where plants have to be wrapped up in blankets during, and becomes the yesterday of time the winter to keep them from freezing to death. Let us vote bonds and spend the money in tranforming those 500 acres northwestern hills into people's park, of which Los Angeles beauty and attractiveness from year to year. #### Small Bondholders.

Hitherto municipal and other bonds have been a luxury reserved for large capitalists. There is no reason why citizens of moderate means should not be allowed to invest some of their money in this manner.

The plan of issuing city bonds in small denominations, so that they may be readily marketed at home, has been adopted by Detroit. The Mayor sent a recommendation to the Council to that effect, and the Council authorized the issue of $450,000 school building bonds in denominations as small as

Such a plan would undoubtedly make it much easier to float bonds in almost unlimited quantities for any safe purpose. It is the small contributions of the peasants of France that have made that country so rich and prosperous, and have enabled it to withstand a blow that would have paralyzed almost any other country in the world. In this democratic country it is not fitting that bonds for municipal, State, or Federal purposes should be confined entirely to the wealthy. Another point to be considered is that by issuing bonds in this manner a better price could generally be obtained by the city, county or State. At present the bonds are generally purchased by syndicates, who expect to make a profit on them, in the same way that a commission merchant handles a crop of oranges. There are comparatively few firms in this country that make a business of handling such securities, and it is not difficult for them to agree among themselves not to pay above a pertain figure. Yet another point to e considered in this matter is that the distribution of these securities among the people in small amounts would tendency to induce the average citizen to take a more direct interest in the conducting of public affairs. As soon as he had a few hundred dollars invested in municipal enterprises he rould be far more ready to aid in pro-riding for an economical and honest management and expenditure of the public funds. There would soon be less wire-pulling and more solid in the management of our

Half of the battle is won when the people's eyes are open to see the mistakes they have made, and the measures necesrectify them. The eyes of the sary to people have been opened, and therefore we have nothing to fear for the future success of Republican principles and policy.

Senator Cullom made a sensible speech on the silver question. His remark that the universal bankruptcy which has for some time threatened the country is as fatal to the creditor as to the debtor should be remem-bered. The interest of the masses in this silver question will prove to be in the long run the interest of the capi-talists, although they may not at preslong run the interest of the ent see it in that light. When the ollapse came in the Argentine Republic, the bondholders in England were the heaviest sufferers.

It is said to be a sure thing that a majority of the Senators will vote for the repeal of the Sherman act. If this is established, the sooner the matbrought to a vote the better it be. Then Congress can go to work and frame some supplementa legislation for the purpose of establish ing the parity between silver and gold The people have a right to expect that Congress will not rest content with this piece of negative legislation.

MUST BE DEPORTED

An Important Decision by Judge Ross.

The Geary Act Declared One Homogeneous Whole.

A Violation of One Clause a Viola tion of the Act.

Out the Law Must Be Used for Deporting the Judge Ross yesterday handed down his promised opinion in the Chun Shang Yuen case. In it he orders that the Chinaman shall be deported. Judge Ross holds that all the clauses of the Geary act are parts of one and the same act, and that a violation of one to deport Chinese under one clause the same funds must be used to deport them under another. He decides that the information from the Attorney-General is not a satisfactory declaration of want of funds for deportation This important decision, in full, is

Pursuant to the provisions of section Pursuant to the provisions of section 13 of an act of Congress entitled "An act to prohibit the coming of Chinese laborers to the United tSates," approved September 13, 1888 (25 United States Statues, p. 476.) which section was not only not repealed by the act of May 5, 1892, commonly known as the Geary act (Statues 1891-2, p. 25.) but was thereby in express terms continued was thereby in express terms continued was thereby in express terms continued in force, and based upon a verified complaint charging the defendant with a violation of the provisions of the sixth section of the Geary act, a warrant was issued for his arrest and made returnable before this court. Upon the calling of the case for hearing the District Attorney presented to the court a telegram from the Attorney-General, a copy of which was placed on file, and which reads as follows: was thereby in express terms continue Dated Washington, D.C., September 2. "Dated Washington, D.C., September 2.

"To United States District Attorney Denis, Los Angeles, Cal.: I am advised by the Secretary of the Treasury that there are no funds to execute the Geary law, so far as provides for deportation of Chinamen who have not procured certificates of residence. On that state of facts the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York made the following order: Ordered that blank be and he hereby is discharged from the custody of the marshal and ordered, to be deported from the United States whenever provision for such deportation shall be made by the proper authorities. Ask court to make similar order in like cases.

"Attorney-General." "Attorney-Ge

court to make similar order in like cases.

"Attorney-General."

This communication was, no doubt, occasioned by the statement made in the opinion given at the time of issuing the warrant to the effect that the warrant was issued in the absence of judicial knowledge on my part that the department of the government charged with the duty of executing the provisions of the Geary act was not provided with the necessary funds for the purpose, and that, were I so advised, no warrant for such offending. Chinamen would be issued nor order for their deportation made. These views were grounded in the fact that to do so would not only greatly embarrass a co-ordinate branch of the government, which, without the necessary funds, would be manifestly powerless to send out of the country persons ordered to be deported, and in the further fact that such offending persons could not be constitutionally imprisoned at hard labor in the State prison, as provided by the fourth section of the Geary act, and because any unreasonable detention of them would entitle them to discharge from restraint by the very court ordering their deportation, or by any other court having the power to inquire by writ of habeas corpus into the legal restraint of any person of his liberty. Such a course is in no respect inconsistent with the entire independence of the judiciary. While, under our system of government, each of the great departments—executive, judicial and legislative—is, within its proper sphere, wholly independent of the others, yet the design is that all shall work in harmony, and not at cross-purposes. The provision of the statute in question is not a penal law: it was so decided by not a penal law; it was so decided by not a penal law; it was so decided by the Supreme Court in the case of Fong Yue, Ting vs. United States (149 U. S. 698:) its enactment was the exercise of the political power by Congress, to expel a certain class of allens from the country, which could be exercised, as was decided in the case cited, entirely through executive officers, or through them with the aid of the judiciary By neither method could the objection. By neither method could the objection-able persons be sent away without money to defray the necessary ex-penses of their deportation, and I, there-fore, repeat what was said when awarding the warrant, that no judge money to defray the necessary expenses of their deportation, and I, therefore, repeat what was said when awarding the warrant, that no judge, in my opinion, should order into custody for deportation any Chinaman whom he judicially knows cannot be deported by the executive department for want of the necessary means.

But the information conveyed to the court through the Attorney-General is not that there are no funds available for the execution of the Geary act, but that "there are no funds to execute the Geary law so far as the same provides for deportation of Chinamen who have not procured certificates of residence."

That portion of the Geary act requiring such certificates to be procured is the sixth section, and its validity having been sustained by the Supreme Court in the case of Fong Yue Ting vs. United States, supra, it is as much a part of the Geary law as any other part of it. Any Chinese laborer violating its provisions, and thereafter remaining in this country, is as much unlawfully here as if he smuggled himself into the country contrary to other provisions of the statute, for the simple reason that in each case the existing law makes the act unlawful. The violator of each is subject to deportation, and equally pade between the offenders, and I can see no valid ground for withholding a warrant for the arrest of any person properly charged with a violutin of any of the provisions of the law in question, nor for denying an order for the deportation of any such persons proved, upon a proper hearing, to have violated the law, in the absence of judicial knowledge that the department of the government charged with the duty of executing its provisions is not provided with the necessary funds with which to execute such order.

That information, as has been said, is not coveyed by the communication from the Attorney-General. On the contrary, the clear inference to be drawn from it is that there are funds available for the execution of the Geary law other than its sixth section. The distinction thus attempte expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes." The provision first refered to is found in United States Statutes-at-Large, 1891-1893; page 365, and is as follows:

"Enforcement of the Chinese Exclusion Act: To prevent unlawful entry of Chinese into the United States, by the appointment of suitable officers to enforce the laws in relation thereto, and for expenses of returning to China all Chinese persons found to be unlawfully in the United States, including the cost of imprisonment and actual expense of conveyance of Chinese persons to the frontier or seaboard for deportation, and for enforcing the provisions of the act approved May 5, 1892, entitled 'An act to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United States, $400,000."

persons into the United States, $100,-000."

And the appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, is found in the same volume, pages 589 and 590, and is as follows:
"Enforcement of the Chinese Exclusion Act: To prevent unlawful entry of Chinese into the United States, by the appointment of suitable officers to enforce the laws in relation thereto, and for expenses of acturning to China all Chinese persons found to be unlawfully in the United States, including the cost of imprisonment and actual expense of conveyance of Chinese persons to the frontier or seaboard for deportation, and for enforcing the provisions of the act approved May 5, 1892, entitled 'An act to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United sions of the act approved May 5, 1892, entitled 'An act to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United States,' $50,000, together with the unexpended balance of the appropriation for this object for the fiscal year 1893." The evidence in the case showing that the defendant is, and was at the time of the passage of the Geary act, a Chinese laborer, residing in this State, and that he falled to register in accordance with the provisions of the sixth section of that act, and no excuse therefor being attempted to be shown, there will be findings accordingly, and an order that he be deported. ROSS, District Judge. Immediately after the decision was rendered the District Attorney's office was besieged by applicants for warrants for the arrest of the unregistered Chinese. Twelve were issued for Reclands, and four for this city, making sixteen in all. More will be issued today.

The warrants are placed in the hands of deputy United States marshals, and the arrested Chinamen placed in the County Jäll until the time set for hear-

Fifteen thousand copies of the South-ern California book, "The Land of Sunshine," were received yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce. The little ber of Commerce. is an admirable and Chamber of Commerce. The little work is an admirable and comprehensive treatise, and is bound to do good service. It is nea!ly printed on fine paper, in clear type, and with excellent illustrations. These embrace views of Southern California's orchards, vineyards, floriculture, agriculture, architecture, streets, cities and mountain and sea scenes. The contents treat of so many valuable topics that it would be difficult to mention anything of interest to the Southern Californian which has been omitted. It is a great improvement over anything of the kind which has yet been offered, and causes one to be justly proud of having a foothold in this "land of sunshine."

The work is issued jointly by the Bureau of Information of Southern California and the Southern California world's Fair_Association, and was compiled by Harry Ellington Brook, with especial reference to the requirements of the home-seeker, the tourist and the invalid.

On Monday afternoon, when evidence had been heard in the case, the counsel for the defendant moved for a dismissal on the ground that the charge had not been established. Considerable argument was heard by Judge Van Dyke on both sides, the case finally being continued until yesterday morning.

At the appointed time yesterday the parties to the cause again assembled and proceeded to enter further into the merits of the allegations.

The court put an end to the matter after listening to the continued argument by granting the motion to dismiss.

SERIOUS RUNAWAY.

Four Los Angeles Young Ladies Have an Exciting Experience.

Last Thursday afternoon, while four young ladies from Los Angeles, who are camping in Stoddard's Canyon, Miss Lydia Alexander, Miss Blanford, Miss Noncy, Watte, and Miss Lally Harry Nancy Waite and Miss Lulu Harris, were driving down to North Ontario, when they got opposite the Ellinsworth ranch, the horses, a spirited team owned by Mr. Stoddard, got scared, became unmanageable and dashed off at a break-neck speed. The driver, Miss Walte, a plucky girl, sawed and reined them up, and almost had them under coutrol when the brake gave way. The horses then took a fresh start and dashed off again. When rounding the corner the carriage upset, and all the occupants were thrown violently to the ground. At this juncture a son of Mr. Ellinworth, from the ranch, seeing the danger, rushed forward and grasped the horses, in this way preventing a more serious mishap. As it was, the young ladies were pretty badly shaken up. break-neck speed. The driver, Miss days since, for services in holding a post-mortem examination, he read it over once, rubbed his eyes and read it again before he was able to decide whether the doctor had grown facetious or really meant what he had written. The demand read: "For services performed on examination of the remains of —, who committed suicide by order of the Coroner."

Miss Blanford got her hand badly cut, Miss Harris had her leg severely torn and lacerated from the knee down, and is likely to be laid up for a few weeks at least, while Miss Waite escaped with a sprained ankle, a little three-year-old daughter of Isaac Lord of Cucamongo, was also in the carriage, and received severe bruises about the face. They were all taken to Dr. Fargo's at San Anfonio, had their wounds dressed, and, at last accounts, were all getting along nicely.

There was not the slightest intimation that a pause was intended between the words "suicide" and "by," and the District Attorney was about to place his mark of disapproval on the demand, under the impression that the method of a coroner in procuring suicides "to order" was pernicious, and should be discouraged, when the real meaning of the wording occurred to him. It is the time to advertise; it is the time to tell you of the arrival of new Fall Dress Goods, Silks, Velvets and Woolens; it is the time to buy. For the past six weeks silence has been golden. The newspapers have been surfeited with less than cost sales. How funny, how ridiculous, how utterly absurd. We talk to you about new dress goods, the shade of heliotrope; of greens, of browns, of tans. We tell you about the new combinations in silks for trimmings and the inharmonious combination of colors -the queerest you ever saw, but a positive relief from the old standard. Big sleeves and small figured silks; heliotrope combined with green, heliotrope combined with brown, heliotrope combined with red, heliotrope combined with blue, heliotrope combined with black, and yet they are spick, span new and as pretty as a picture. Let us tell you about dress goods. Loud effects are like capes played out; the styles run more into plain effects and silks and velvets are largely used for trimmings; heliotropes and greens are largely in the lead, browns and tans are unquestionably good. The coming styles from over the water indicate black, next spring the rage will be at its heighth in America. Why not anticipate and secure a black dress?—trim it in white, then fashion will bow to your judgment. No dress will be complete without velvet or silks; a new, soft finished velveteen at a reasonable price will unquestionably be good. Then comes Mantel Velvets, the wide kind for trimming for capes and for collars, wide enough for big sleeves. The silks ail run to small, neat effects. Anything with a satin surface or a changeable effect will unquestionably be good. Now for a few words about prices and qualities. We are not dealing in high-priced novelties; more of the medium-priced goods with better taste and more easement for the pocketbook. You secure style at a reasonable price, and when a dress is made up and worn over a Royal Worcester you secure a fit and with it taste and style. The price has been reasonable and the purchaser secures the worth of her money. A few special good things in Hop Sackings in greens, heliotropes and browns. The styles in Cloaks run to big sleeves and wide skirts to conform to the new-style dresses. Have you looked in upon our Cloak Department since the advent of new goods? More than ever the Cloak Department will be pushed to the front; no old goods to work off: new styles, better treatment than ever; the largest and best Cloak Department in the West. Muslin Underwear and the Royal Worcester Corset have been more than doubling sales. Good Muslin Drawers and Chemise, 25c each; Baby Caps and Baby Bonnets, 10c and 15c, reduced from 30c and 25c; a splendid lot of Aprons at 15c each, full sizes and nice styles. Still a little lot of Underwear on the half-price tables; odds and ends from last season's stock, fully as good as the regular line, but special things that will not be carried in stock in the future. New Ribbons, new Bourdon Laces, new Veilings, new Notions and a large lot of new Domestics. From now on each day we will advertise-emphasize and work to secure a larger share of trade; no false ideas will be held out, plain truths spoken to the point and having a full stock of the goods quoted is the basis upon which we ask trade. Come now and we will show you the most complete line of Silks, Velvets and Dress Goods in new styles and colors we ever

The county of Riverside is going to endeavor to get rid of the jackrabbits within its borders, by inducing the cit-izens to kill them. The county supervisors, in session this week, received petitions from residents of all parts of the county asking that a bounty be offered for the scalps of jacks and; acting upon these petitions, it was decided to offer from the county coffers the sum of 15 cents for each and every jack-rabbit scalp secured within the county and delivered to the justices of the peace for the period of sixty days, beginning September 15. Rather to White's surprise the invitation was accepted, and hardly had the corner been rounded before he sent out a "shoulder striker" at the carrier, expecting, no doubt, to end the matter at once. In this, however, he was mistaken, as he fully realized after the carrier had "turned loose" on him, and, before Marshal Nichols bore down on them, the young tough was trying hard to find out where he was "at." Tuesday morning the carrier went before a justice of the peace and paid his fine of $5. White was fined $10, or five days in the County Jail. He went to jail.

Public Demand for Enforcement of the Dog Ordinance.

Street Extensions in Redlands-Arrest of Professional Labor Agitator for Disturbing the Peace-Personal

San Bernardino has a dog license statute upon the city ordinance books, but it might as well not be. The public streets are overrun with curs of every possible grade, from the low, hunted cur, kicked by the passer-by because his filthy appearance and sneaking look invite a blow, to the pampered and petted poodles of high pampered and petted poodles of high estate to which his master will doff his hat. These latter, however, are few and far between, and are not, as a rule, found running between the legs of the pedestrians, causing him to sit unceremoniously and in an undignified position upon the sidewalk. But such unceremoniously and in an undigitated position upon the sidewalk. But such a proceeding is of far too frequent an occurrence in San Bernardind. The miserable whelps are fed upon the sidewalks in the business center of the town, and their owners seem to consider it the proper thing and in no way detrimental to the interests of the city or of any consequence to the pedestrians who may be compelled to walk around them or be tripped up by the sudden dash of one cur to steal the bone from another. A thorough and systematic enforcement of the ordinance would result in freeing the city of the greater part of the worst canines and prove a Godsend to the now dog-ridden city. The ordinance was evidently passed for a purpose, and that purpose should be put into effect. position upon the sidewalk. But such

The citizens along the proposed ex-tension of Water street, to give the resident of the Barton tract right-ofway, have signified their willingness to do the same. But those who have to use the road prefer another route— the extension of State street—for the reason that the Water street route will reason that the crossing of the railrout necessitate the crossing of the railrout track twice, and driving for some dis-track twice, and driving for some distrack twice, and driving for some distance between the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific. If the State street extension could be secured it would not pass near the railroad track. But it would involve a great expense to secure the right-of-way for the State street extension. The right-of-way will therefore be secured and the Water street extension will probably be provided for the people to the west of the city.

AFTEP. THE AGITATORS.

Clarence (known throughout this region as "Smoothey") Livermore was arrested on Tuesday under the vagrancy act. He was one of the speakers at the first anti-Chinese meetings in this city, and indulged in the most inflammatory remarks of any of those who took the stand. He is a floating agitator, and was driven out of Riverside and San Bernardino, and in both of these places he bears a bad reputation. He is a very sharp fellow, from which he gets his name of "Smoothey," Under the advice of Sheriff Booth he was taken into custody by Deputy Rivera, and it is to be hoped by all law-abiding citizens that he will be kept where he can not encourage or incite lawless disturbances. The Police Commission met yesterday morning with Commissioners Weldon, Bradish and Tufts present. Commissioner, Tufts presided.

The chief reported on the petition of Wood & Smith for transfer of license at No. 115 South Spring street from J. P. Taggert, and on petition of Moorhacher & Oser for transfer of license at No. 141 North Main street from Peter Mayshafor. from Peter Mayshafer. These were

The petition of C. H. Clarey were all referred to the chief.

The charges preferred by Mrs. Redona against Officer Talamantes were reported on by the chief, who recommended that the officer be exonerated. Commissioner Bradish moved that the report be nifed and that the officer be commended for doing his duty, which motion was carried.

The chief reported unfavorably on the petition of Paschal Herriot for an appointment as special policeman, and the same was accordingly denied.

The chief, in accordance with instructions, presented a statement showing the ordinances or parts of ordinances governing the conduct of saloons.

An application of Mrs. M. E. Custer cense at No. 701 East Eighth street:

nances governing the conduct of saloons.

An application of Mrs. M. E. Custer for license at No. 712 East First street was reported on favorably by the chief. The report stated that Mr. Custer, to whom the license at that place was some time ago granted, had since died. If the license could now be granted to Mrs. Custer it was believed that it would give her an opportunity to sell out her interest in the place. The license was accordingly granted.

The chief presented the following report in reference to certain saloons, which report had been prepared by Secretary Monfatt:

To the honorable Board of Police Commissioners—Gentlemen: In accordance with the order of your honorable board, given at your meeting of August 29, 1893, I now submit to you a report upon the following named saloons:

portunity to know the state of intoxication of his customers than he had when they drank in the saloon.

In justice to this man Jean-Rappet, it must be acknowledged that, considering the class of his patrons, he has kept very good order in his saloon. But very few fights or disturbances of the peace have been reported as occurring directly in this saloon, nor is Jean Rappet charged with dishonesty. I remember no reports of thefts, and but one report of stolen property being purchased about his saloon, and that was recently by one of his barkeepers, and very likely without, the knowledge of Rappet, and, if liquor is to be added to lust. if there are to be saloons in this block, I suppose Jean Rappet would keep as orderly a place as any man would under the situation. But, gentlemen of the Police Commission, I believe that a fair trial will show that the removal of the liquor from this place will remove the evil of the cribs by half. I believe that there are at least some young men who first visit this saloon and become intoxicated there, and through the back door of, the saloon go to meet members of the band of debauched and diseased prostitutes of that neighborhood, and visit them, who, but for the saloon, would not do so. (The testimony of the Young murder case shows that Young on the night of the tragedy, was drinking in the "Basket" saloon, and that there he secured at least a part of the liquor that stimulated him to his horrid crime. In the case of the fight which resulted in the death of Harry Rinkenbach, Jean Rappet, the proprietor of the "Basket" saloon, testified just as did Jean Lenert, that neither of them heard of the fight or knew that it was going on though it occurred within a few feet of them, which statement is very near the incredible, and two parties have told me that Jean Rappet has said that he did hear the fight, and that Lenert refused to stop it.) I believe that the closing of the "Basket" saloon (Jean Lenert's place, and all other saloons in that block, also being kept closed) will do a decrease the futner of the decrease the futner prostitutes.

I believe that the licenses of all of the saloons mentioned in this report should be revoked, and that the revocation of them would aid the police in maintaining order and suppressing crime in this city.

Commissioner Bosbyshell entered during the reading of the report.

Commissioner Weldon moved that the report be adopted and that the licenses of the places mentioned be revoked.

Commissioner Tufts said that he believed that a hearing should be given, and Commissioner Bradish moved that when the board adjourn it should do so till 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and that the parties holding the licenses for these places be cited to appear before the board at that time and show cause why their licenses should not be revoked.

There was some littlie discussion, after which the motion made by Commissioner Bradish was carried.

At this point Commissioner Weldon said he would have to go and, not-withstanding the protests of other members of the board, left the room.

Clovich Bros. of 315 South Spring street presented a petition asking that they be permitted to keep in front of their store an electric light of less than 2000 candle power. This being contrary to the city ordinance the communication was filed.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the 4 o'clock meeting Commissioner Weldon was absent and the Mayor, who had gone out shortly belafore, did not attend. Commissioner Tufts presided.

Mrs. Mary Dupuy of the New Orleans House was heard. She stated that it was a fact that she closed up the house promptly at midnight, and sold the house ordinance, but said that she had been convicted of violating the lifestime of the firm, it is prestitutes frequented the place. Commissioner Bradish called for the reading of the rule of the board adopted August 15, which rule requires that all entrances to saloons shall be direct, and that no liquors shall be served in booths or private apartments.

Commissioner Bradish then moved to amend by adding the following:

"Any violation of this rule will involve the revocation of the permit of license for such saloons, and the Chief of Police is hereby notified to instruct each and every police officer to report in writing any violation of these rules. Also to have printed copies of all rules of the commission governing saloons, with the penalty added thereto, delivered to each and every saloon-keeper or his barkeeper, the same to take effect on and after October 1, 1893, and any previous rules conflicting with the above are hereby repealed."

This amendment was adopted with but little debate, after which the board adjourned.

Constantine Made Threats Before Killing Himself.

He Left a Letter Wherein He. Accuses His Partner of Possessing a Power Akin to liypno-

The recent death by suicide of Fred Constantine, the painter, has since brought to light facts other than were disclosed at the Coroner's inquest.

Constantine was of a very nervous temperament, and capable of more manual labor than an ordinary mun. He was in the best of health, physic ally, and, on the representation that he could run the business alone, a cerally, and, on the representation that he could run the business alone, a certain firm of carriage-makers on Requena street advanced him the money to purchase the interest of his partner. Coakley. This was about two weeks before his death.

The night before his body was found, Constantine acted in a very strange manner. He told his wife, in the presence of another lady, that he was after Coakley, and would kill him on sight. The women tried to dissuade him from his purpose. Later in the night, after retiring, Mrs. Constantine awoke and found her husband lying across the foot of the bed, fully dressed. She was frightened, but he mollified her.

Wien his effects were searched, on Sunday afternoon, a little vest-pocket memorandum book was found, which contained the following suggestive lines. The irregularity of the characters and disconnected words clearly indicate the nervous condition of the writer at the time:

"God only knows the tortures of mind I am suffer and have suffered since—"I can stand it no longer I warn all

WEALLED TO MATERIALIZE. Attempt Made to Disrupt the Police

The anticipated disruption of the Police Commission did not take place yesterday. It was not even referred to in the Council, and during the day a number of more or less prominent Democrats spent considerable time in alternately denying the whole matter, and "cussing" the fellow who gave the scheme away. J. Marion Brooks, chairman of the Democratic City Central Committee, positively denies that that body had taken any official action in the matter. He says that the committee has never adopted any such resolution as the one referred to, and that if any persons claiming to be members of the committee are circulating such a resolution, it is wholly unauthorized. Mr. Brooks further said that he was not opposed to Chief Glass, who had made a good officer, and that he did not favor his removal. Other well-known Democrats expressed the same opinions.

On the other hand, other members of the committee insist that such a resolution had been depted, and that it had been the intention to present it in the Council yesterday morning, but decline to explain why the plan had been changed.

People's Physicians.

Some of the Causes of Their Success.

They Succeed Because They Have the Right Plan.

There is probably no institution in Los Angeles so well known and so firmly established as the De Monco Medical Institute. This is a popular medical Institute. This is a popular medical institute in the sease from which they suffer, and especially from diseases of the nose, throat and lungs, at a nominal fee per month, with the medicines furnished free.

It is no wonder that under such conditions, Dr. De Monco and associates should have an immense practice.

There are so many features in the method they have employed that commend their system strongly to the attention of everyone that it cannot be otherwise than a grand success.

Dr. De Monco and associates take a personal interest in every case that is intrusted to their care.

They are equipped for their work by special training, superior education, first-class equipment and a long and varied experience. Examining as they do hundreds of cases, they are familiar with every phase of their specialities, and with all forms of diseases.

their speciatics, and whit an example cases.

A big bill at the druggist's is one of the necessary adjuncts to treatment under the average physician. With Dr. De Monco and associates there is nothing of the sort to contend with, as their terms include, besides treatment, all medicines, applications and aids they have occasion to prescribe.

besides treatment, all medicines, appucations and aids they have occasion to-prescribe.

These facts are commented on daily by the numerous patients at their offices, and are vitally interesting to all those who are contemplating taking medical treatment.

This system has been devised to meet popular wants, and especially to overcome the prejudice that exists on the part of most people as well as the fear and distrust felt by the average sufferer toward a high priced doctor, and the train of expensive fees connected with treatment under him.

All of which is respectfully submitted, that those who are interested may profit.

A Well-known Man Is Relieved of a Troublesome Catarrh.
Mr. J. F. Crowder, the genial and popular shipping clerk for Bailey & Barker Brothers, furniture dealers, South Main street, and who lives at 316 South Fremont avenue, gives his testimony, which will have weight with all thinking people. He says:

MR. J. F. CROWDER.

MR. J. F. CROWDER.

I have been troubled more or less with catarrh for the past fifteen years, and about a year ago it became so aggravated as to cause me considerable suffering.

I had pains in my head over the eyes, roaring sounds in my ears, could scarcely breathe through my nostrils, one or the other most always stopped up, and my sense of smell was impaired. I had a constant dropping of mucous in the back of my throat, frequently causing sickness of the stomach; had a slight cough, throat was very painful, at times some pain in chest, and I really believed my lungs would soon become affected.

After trying many different remedles without deriving the slightest benefit, I concluded to try Drs. De Monco and Sapp. Under their scientific treatment I have improved in a remarkable and entirely satisfactory way.

their scientific treatment I have imporent in the remarkable and entirely satisfactory way.

I feel first rate now. No more pains in the head, my nose is free, very little dropping in the throat, can breathe without difficulty now, and in a short time expect to be entirely cured. My improvement has been so remarkable that I have no hesitancy in recommending Drs. De Monco and Sapp as thoroughly competent specialists.

Under the new system patients treating by mail have the advantage of a careful and accurate diagnosis, with watchful attention paid to the details of every case, and medicines specially prepared for each individual patient, with the constant advice of skillful and successful specialists.

the helnous crime of incest with his sixteen-year-old daughter Jessle.

Overton is a man about 55 years of age and came here from South Riverside last spring. His wife, with whom he is not living, is housekeeper for Judge Roberts mear Goleta. The girl was brought here by her father some four or five months ago, and has been living with several families in this vicinity since, where he would call-evenings and take her out, often staying quite late and it is alleged that he has compelled her to submit to his wishes during all of this time, the matter not becoming known until within a few days. When confronted with positive evidence the girl weakened and made a clean breast of the whole matter, after which she felt very much relieved, as she had frequently cried and felt very despondent after being out evenings with her father, which, however, had been thought to be caused by his rough manner.

On finding out that the facts had become known he had her sent to her mother at Goleta yesterday. His preliminary examination was set for 11 o'clock next Thursday, Constable Pyletaking him to the County Jafi at Ventura this afternoon for safe-keeping, as humerous expressions have been made that hanging was too good for such a creature, and the uselessness of putting the county to the ruecessarily heavy expense, but it is believed that the law will be allowed to take its course. A warrant has also been issued for the girl's arrest to finsure her presence at the trial.

Constable Pyle will go to Goleta to morrow and take her into custody.

aged about 15 years, was arrested yesterday morning on complaint of his father, charged with petty larceny. About five weeks ago young Trombatone skipped the parental roof and remained away three weeks.

After returning he engaged in the fruit business with his father. Things did not go to suit the young man, and a few days ago he lit out, taking a horse and wagon with him. The boy claims an interest in the horse, but admits that the wagon belongs to the old man.

The charge of petty larceny is made for the purpose of sending the boy to the Whittier school.

Tom Burns in the City.

Tom Burns, one of the captors of the bandits Sontag and Evans, and who was with Black when the latter was shot by the desperadoes, is in the city. Burns is a modest, quiet fellow, not much given to talking, but who impresses one with the idea that he is a good man to tie to. He comes to Los Angeles as a witness in the suit over the disputed portion of the reward for the capture of the bandits.
